Dr. Hughes Preaches to Large Congrega stone at Broad-Street and Trinity-

Rev. Hugh Price Hughes, D. D., the distinguished London missionary who came to America to attend the sea of the Ecumenical Council recently held in Washington, preached two sermons of marked ability in this city on Sunday, and they were heard by overflowing congregations.

Dr. Hughes reached the city Sunday morning from Nashville and was acompanied by Mrs. Hughes and Mr. Parker, the minister's secretary. They stopped at Ford's Hotel while here.

The London clergyman preached at Broad-Street church in the morning and at Trinity at night, and on both occa-sions his auditors were attentive and interested. He is above the medium height and apparently a few years beyond fitty. He speaks with clearness and force, and when speaking of his work in the West End of London his earnestness shows how deep an interest he feels in it.

The anxiety to hear Dr. Hughes was so great that Broad-Street church was filled at 11 o'clock in the forenoon. Drs. Tudor, Lafferty, and others entered with

The opening hymn and introductory lessons were read by Dr. Tudor, and were followed by a prayer by Dr. Laf-HARVEST PLENTEOUS BUT LABORERS FEW.

After an introduction by the pastor Dr. Hughes at once proceeded with his sermon, and chose for his text Matthew ix., 37: "The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few." He remarked that it was a strange coincidence that pastors of the churches in which he had preached should read lessons appropriate to his text, without any knowledge of information from him, and thus enable him to follow his text. The speaker dwelt largely upon the compassion shown by Christ to large crowds, and his deep pity for them as manifested by his love. He gave a history of his twenty-five years as a speaker to the masses and told how heathenism fears a crowd. Dr. Hughes said he was impressed in his trips throughout America to find the same social evils parent which distressed the While they have not reached such publicity here as there, yet they exist, and the trouble is Christians do not give their time to uprooting them and thus elevate mankind instead of allowing such evils to become rooted until violent measures have to be used to crush them out, or in the end the Church would be crushed out. In olden times it was a law that if any evil was done in a community the entire com-munity was fined because of the evil, and if all the churches were fined now because of the wicked things done, the Church would be a great preventitive, and in this way cities would be cleaned of the corrupt influences that ruin the young as well as the old. No man lives to himself, but becomes a factor for good or evil as the case might be.

HELP OF THE PRESS.

The preacher said that at a mass meeting in New York addressed by him on the subject of "City Evangeliza-tion" he noticed the great good a book had done, and he thanked God for the efforts of journalism to aid him in his work and appreciated the activity of the press in ferreting out the evil and praising the good efforts of all. He com-mended the "White Slave," written by Dr. Banks, of Boston, Mass., who has done much to alleviate the sufferings of the working classes, and who, by having photographed the slums and purheus of vice, has aroused the attention not only of the ministry but of those in the higher

The missionary gave a history of his mission in the West End of London, where so much of gilded sin abounds, and told how his efforts are aided by earnest, working colleagues. He re-viewed the work done by the Salvation Army under Mrs. Booth, and said her success was owing to the love she manifested for the masses. He also paid a noble tribute to the women who had aided his wife (Lady Somerset), and told how they went down amongst the poorer classes and elevated them by their devotion. He used the figure of the cotton seen by him in the South as an illustration of the harvest ended. Evangelists should be the best men in the church, learned and zealous, and full of work, said he, as the masses need in-struction, whilst those of regular churches should be content to have the pastors who attend to their duties. The masses that come to this country and soon become voters, thus controlling it should be evangelized, and thus utilized to advance a country rather than retard it by disseminating evil.

THE WORK OF WESLEY.

The speaker referred in glowing terms to the earnest work of John Wesley and its results. Though despised by the people and clergy, his plain, straight-forward preaching nevertheless affected the people, and thus gained the Church. was it that so many failed to attend church? Arouse the church, he said ; let every'one be at work, and then every church will be a factor for good. Encourage attendance upon religious meet-ings. Let the Methodist Church revive their class meetings. Personal, indi vidual efforts accomplish much work. Submit to Christ and he will furnish work to aid you, and the reward of a life spent in such service is sure and worth all that this short life can do. THANKS AND A COLLECTION.

At the conclusion of Dr. Hughes's discourse Dr. Tudor in fitting terms thanked him for his sermon and asked a response from the congregation in the shape of a collection to aid the work in London. This was taken up, after which Rev. Dr. A. E. Dickinson led in prayer and the benediction was pronounced by Dr. Hughes.

The entire address of the distinguished divine was attractive. Though wearied by his long trip he freshened up as he spake, and in a clear voice impressed all who heard him by his earnestness and devontness to the cause he represents. At 8 P. M. Dr. Tudor preached from the text founded upon Job, xl., 9. "Salvation of God alone renewed Job in his trials and afflictions, relying upon God for deliverance." This book furnishes a fine field for illustration, especially this chapter, and the Doctor gave scope to his im aginstion in descriptive language. He commended the service of God, and de nounced in earnest words the vices of present day, and spoke of pure re-

Dr. Hughes at Trinity eburch Sunday night at 8 o'clock. The Louise was filled to overflowing. Rev. George H. Ray, of Union Station, and Dr. J. L. M. Curry occupied the pulpit. The text was selected from Hebrews in., 8-9: "Now we see not yet all things put under Him, but we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the things put under him, but we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honor, that He by the grace of God should taste death for every man." The subject was "Jesus the Savior and the Ideal Man." Dr. Hughes first spoke of man as created in the image of God, with no equal or su-perior except God; of the angels as istering servants unto man's salva-istering servants unto man's salva-istering servants unto man's salva-the life man's nostrils only was athed the breath of God, hence man ame so like God that the Divine sence can and does dwell in regene-man. He depicted in glowing language man's original supremacy over all creation, with the world subject to his will, and then the dreadful in Adam which alienated man from God. He then spoke of Jesus, the ideal man, the second Adam, who can and does lift the whole human family up to himself and makes them partakers of His great glory, wherewith he is crowned, when their sins are removed.

He next spoke of Jesus tasting death for the race, when he bore the sins of the world on the tree. He believed in encouraging the fallen, lifting them up, encouraging the fallen, lifting them up, and arousing a hope in their breasts by pointing to Jesus's death for them. Encourage the drunkard and the profligate of all classes; bid them never despair since Jesus died.

God's purpose is to make a Heaven on earth, make Richmond a Paradise, make the United States as like Heaven as possible, and through converting grace make the people like the angels in parity.

John Wesley was a man of strong convictions, a plain talker, and not afraid to rebuke sin in all its forms, from the highest to the lowest.

HIS HOME WORK.

Dr. Hughes concluded by speaking of his work in the West End of London. He also said that he is a great friend of this republic, and could say personally that himself and wife and friends had received the utmost kindness since his arrival in this country, and that he was particularly pleased with his visit to Richmond, where he had experienced uninded hospitality. He would pray God's blessing on all our people.

Rev. P. A. Peterson, D. D., preached

at Trinity in the morning to a good con-gregation from the seventeenth chapter of the Gospel by St. John fifteenth verse: "I pray not that Thou shouldst take them out of the world but that Thou shouldst keep them from the evil." Subject: "Christ's Prayer for the Preservation of His People from Moral Dr. Peterson was not in his usual health, having a severe cold, but he nevertheless preached a sermon full of earnestness and calculated to do much Sanctification Needed.

The Methodist preachers' meeting yesterday was rendered unusually interesting by the presence and speeches of Revs, Hugh Price Hughes and W. D. Walters, of London; President Smith, of Randolph-Macon College, and Dr. Lafferty, of the Richmond Christian Advocate.

Messrs. Hughes and Walters spoke of the comparative work of the American and English Methodism, Said the former: "American Methodism has a much greater possibility before it, but the Wesleyan Church is more alive to the situation and is reaching the masses with more success by the recent forward or reform movement, which is but a return to the methods and spirit of Wes-ley. The responsibility of the ministry is great. Sanctified audacity or cou-rageous modesty is needed. Sanctification is an intense desire not to have your own way. But above all methods is faith and prayer.
Dr. Smith, president of Randolph-

Macon College, spoke at length of the prosperous condition of the college and the two $100,000 academies at Bedford City and Front Royal, and of the $220,-000 woman's college in Lynchburg, of which institutions the two former are doing fine work and the two latter of which are in process of erection. Sunday was a good day for Metho dism in Richmond. Forty members were reported yesterday morning as re-ceived into five of the churches. Ark of the Covenant.

A large congregation assembled at Park-Place church Sunday night to hear Dr. Bledsoe's sermon on the Ark of the Covenant and its Moral Signification. After giving a full and minute descrip-tion of the ark that Moses constructed in the wilderness in obedience to Divine command, the Doctor gave an able and bol of the Divine presence with His chosen people—the Shekinah or wonderful light symbolizing the power of the presence of God. It was also the golden repository of the Divine law which was pinced beneath the mercy seat, symbolic of the fact that the law could only be reached by Divine mercy. The sermon, aside from its many other interesting features, was of peculiar interest to the Masonic fraternity, tracing the history of the ark and contents from the time of its construction by Divine command until its destruction (as is supposed) by Nebuchadnezzar, who laid in ruins the temple at Jerusalem.

Rev. W. L. Wright has recovered from his recent attack of sickness, and occupied his pulpit at Leigh-Street at both services on Sunday. In the morning he preached on the "Duty of Caring for the Orphans," and took a collection for the orphanage which will probably reach $300. Glenn the assembly was dismissed with the doxology.

This was handsomely decorated, the walls and ceiling being hid by drapery of red, white, and blue. Pendant from this were many festoons of cedar, relieved by artificial flowers. In one end of the room were the figures showing the age of the congregation and at the other the word "Welcome." A number of tables laden with all that is good extended in every direction. Chairman H. E. Hirshberg, of the committee, welcomed all present and said that with great trouble they had succeeded in providing what had not been seen in Richmond for a long time a kosher banquet. (By this he meant the food was all prepared at home ac-cording to the rules of Jewish cookery. Rabbi Sapir delivered an address of

"Our Thirty-fifth Natal Day—The Day We Celebrate," was the next sentiment. In replying to this Mr. Philip Hirshberg, vice-president of the congregation, was quite happy. Some of his remarks were quite amusing and elicited much laughter. He was glad that the committee had honored him, but would rather that they had left him off the programme. They had, however, been considerate enough to place him between two ministers, which according to the Hebrew significance, showed that while not a speaker yet he would be acceptable. He predicted that in thirty five years to come the congregation would be still stronger. He alluded to the increase showing that where one member of a family had been a founder, that half a dozen or more of his name were now members, Mr. Hirshberg gave a brief sketch of the congregation telling how it had started in rented rooms. Now it has a synagogue, four scrolls of the law, and a burying ground of its own. There are nine letters in the

He was glad to see the room hung in the Ameri-can colors, a thing that came of Judaism, a faith that has always recognized "The law of the land is the law." No-where does Judaism find a better place than under that flag which was then over them. This congregation is only one of the integral parts of the faith. It is one of the limbs not to be severed. He was glad with them and rejoiced in their suc-cess. On behalf of the congregation Beth Abaha he congratulated them on the happy occasion. All Israel are brethren, and as such when feasting in plenty they should remember those who to-day are orphaned and widowed beof their devotion to the faith. OLD CONGREGATIONS.

"Our Sister Congregations-Hear, O, Jarael, the Lord Our God, the Lord is One," was replied to by Mr. Joseph Cohn, reader of the Congregation Beth Shalom. His, he said, was the father of the other congregations, having been founded one hundred years ago this month. In 1846 the Congregation Beth Ahaba left the parent, and ten years later Kenesath Israel followed. Speaking of the freedom of conscience allowed in America, Mr. Cohn said there is no excuse for a Jew to shirk his duty. He can be a citizen of the country, as be comes a man, without hurting science and still be a Jew without break ing the law. Never do they hold a service but what a prayer is said for the welfare of the officers of the Government

The Jew is not selfish, but prays for all mankind, and asks God to bless the whole world. The Israelite must be seen; his works must be seen. No one prevented him from following the dictates of his conscience, and respected him all the more for observing his religion. By doing this they would make their name honored forever and ever. ONE OF THE POUNDERS.

Mr. H. Fisher spoke to the toast "Our Officers—Faithful and Constant to Their Sacred Trust." In doing so he stated that he was one of the founders of the congregation and had always stuck by it through thick and thin. He had seen it grow from ten to sixty in a had seen it grow from ten to sixty in a few years. When the war came it fell off to nearly nothing, but he was happy to say that it had revived, and now the membership is almost as large as ever. In reference to reforms he thought Judaism was like a block of granite. The sought-for model has been found, and if the chipping off is still continued nothing will be left.

At this inneture Mr. H. E. Hirshbarg.

At this juncture Mr. H. E. Hirshber chairman of the committee, presente on its behalf to President Harris Jacob of the congregation, handsomely-framed portraits of himself and Mrs. Jacobs.

Mr. Philip Hirshberg briefly thanked the donors on behalf of Mr. Jacobs.

The next toast was "The Israelites :

There is a land, of every land the pride, Beloved by Heaven o'er all the world beside, Responding to this, Mr. S. L. Bloom-berg began by saying he knew of no better way of illustrating than by com-paring the Jew in America with those in other countries.

In doing so a comparison of the Israelite in Russia would depict more graphically than the tongue of Demosthenes or the pencil of Raphael. In America education from the lowest to the highest grade is open to him. He can follow the arts or professions, He can follow the ares or protessions, and his property sights are not interfered with. This, he claimed, is indeed the promised land spoken of in the Bible where milk and honey flow. The Jew, though, always remains Jew.

The speaker said he wished that some happy medium could be devised that all four congregations in Richmond might be merged into one. The forms of the religion Mr. Bloomberg compared to the dead leaves on a tree. The gardener removes them and lays bare an unsightly limb. This in turn is removed, and then another, until the living pores are exposed and the tree dies. The Jew should cling tenaciously to his religion. "May the Stars and Stripes," he concluded, "long wave over the homes of the free and the land of the brave," and among their defenders none will be braver than the Jews. OUR COUNTRY. Mr. A. M. Meyer responded to "Our Country-This land o' our'n I tell ye's got to be.

A better land than man e'er see."

The vast audience, he said, was gathred to do more than eat and be merry. They should think of Russia, where their people are being depr.ved of pro-perty left them by their fathers' fathers. Synagogues were destroyed, the people driven away from the land of their birth to wander in strange countries. In closing Mr. Meyer depicted the possibilities of the Jew in America and what he has accomplished here already. GOOD ENOUGH FOR HIM.

"Our City."

"There is a spot of earth supremely blest, A dearer, sweeter spot than all the rest." Mr. Julius Straus, replying to this, said he was like the man who did not want to go to Heaven—Richmond is good enough for him. This city is his home, he went on to say, by chance, because his father set-tled here long before he (the speaker) was born. With his hearers it was different; they had shown good judgment and come by choice. In eastern cities the Jew was compelled to wear a yellow badge and was not allowed to remain within the gates after they were closed. Here they could not only worship with open doors, but police were sent to the synagogues if they wished it to see that ey were not disturbed. The Jews are here to stay. This is a good country and affords protection for every one. Al that is necessary is for them to be good citizens. He remembered when Broad street was the only thoroughfare in that por-tion of the city. When he thought of what had been done in the last thirty five years, he could not but wonder what it would be thirty-five years hence. Richmond is a nice place. He neve

Isn't it natural to suppose that you can buy Clothing from manufacturers cheaper than from those merchants who have to pay the middle-man bis slice of profit? Certainly it is. Then don't you think it would pay you to come our way and see what we really can do for you We know that we have a stock which for variety, style, make and finish WILL PLEASE YOU. We know that after you have looked around, examined other stocks carefully, and then come to us, look at what we have to show you, see how much more value we can give you for your money, and then, if you are not blind to your interest you will buy. We have been making Clothing since 1843. Year by year we have improved, and to-day we can truly and unhesi-tatingly assert that our CLOTHES are qual in every respect to those made by ustom tailors whose exhorbant charges ou are well aware of. Our $7, $8, $9, and $10 Suits and Overcoats contain more real merit than those
